

CFI members make up a large, virtually untapped resource of skilled employees. They are dependable, honest and hard working. Working allows the opportunity for members to meet new people. It gives one a feeling of accomplishment to know that they are providing a service that is needed by others. When a person is employed, their entire life is enhanced by the experience. Our members choose to work and will give it all that they have.

Ellison Prather, Food Service Assistant, O'Hern House

If you use CFI as a resource, you expand your hiring options and decrease the time required to fill positions. Your hiring risk is lessened because each CFI employee comes pre-screened with a recommendation to hire. Using CFI members enhances your company image in the community, and we do not have to tell you how rewarding it is to give somebody a chance at a new life.

Moreover, you are in good company. The local employers listed on this brochure are using or have used CFI members. They deserve our recognition, our appreciation and our support.

We would like to add your name to the list. If you need skilled workers who really want a job, call our Work Opportunities Director at CFI (404) 875-0381. It is just a phone call, but it could work wonders for you and your company.

TOGETHER WE CAN WORK WONDERS

We are Work Opportunities, a department of Community Friendship, Inc. (CFI), a non-profit, community-based rehabilitation organization that works with adults who are recovering from mental health setbacks. Through a variety of programs, we provide housing, case management, work skills training, and social opportunities for our members.

*Donna Douglas, Receptionist
Community Friendship, Inc.*

Our members are people who may (or may not) have difficulties coping with the stresses of everyday life. However, with a little assistance, they can achieve and surpass the employment expectations.

CFI members go through an assessment with our staff. Some have also participated in our work adjustment program. They are work-ready and dependable. The next step in building a productive life is to help them find the job of their choice so they can earn a living and gain the respect needed to lead a more enhanced life.

"Donna Douglas has done an exceptional job as a part-time receptionist at CFI. She makes great strides to help visitors at the agency link with the appropriate department that will best serve their needs. She is a valuable asset to our agency and we are happy to have her."

*Lola Simpson, Admission/Evaluation Director
Community Friendship, Inc.*

"Jimmy has adapted well to our organization here at the Fox Theatre, and he fits right in. CFI has proven to be a valuable resource in filling our employment needs."

*Shirley Allen, Project Manager
Allied International/Cleaning Services*

"I wish that our future workforce worked and performed as well as Danny."

*Jeffrey L. Passmore, Custodial Supervisor
Atlanta Metropolitan College*

CFI members can handle a variety of jobs, part time or full time. We currently have members placed in clerical, social services, custodial, hospitality, and industry positions. Their educational backgrounds range from elementary school to advanced degrees. They are willing to apply their skills for the available job tasks, and they are committed to being dependable workers.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU PARTNER WITH US

Opportunities and experiences unfold for both employers and future employees. As an employer, you receive productive and efficient employees. You save money on advertising, recruiting, and training. Government tax credits are also available to employers who hire persons with disabilities. In addition, we provide job analysis to improve your company's productivity and save you money.

You also have the opportunity to be involved with in-house trainings, job shadowing, internships, and quarterly educational luncheon meetings.

Publix Supermarket*

One of the greatest assets of Work Opportunities is the long-term support and job coaching. When a CFI member is hired, a CFI job coach is assigned, if needed, to assist and support the member – at no added cost. We maintain ongoing support and contact with both the employer and the employee. In essence, we are the liaison between employer and employee, ensuring a successful experience for both.
